"The Year of Change"

1980-81 truly became a year of change—Change for our school, our city, our country, and even our world.

As we began planning the 1981 Legend early in the summer, we felt the theme "A Year of Change" could be an interesting, yet appropriate subject. We were aware that the elections would take a major place in the national news. We all probably were more than a little surprised to find that for the first time since 1932, Republicans outnumbered Democrats in our Senate. Many Lee seniors voted for the first time.

Inauguration Day will go down in history as unforgettable, for as President Ronald Reagan was taking the oath of office, 52 of our American countrymen that had been held hostage for 444 days in Iran were boarding a plane to return home.

January 20th certainly began "a year of change". Americanism continues to run high. Countless miles of yellow ribbons helped to draw our country together again.

All over our city change was apparant. Many old familiar places gave way to progress. Downtown Tyler took on a new look. We stood and watched as the old Citizens First National Bank fell in ruins, to be replaced with a beautiful, modern structure. The People's National Bank added Tyler's tallest building facility that, along with Tyler Bank and Trust, revitalized the downtown area.

The change that had the greatest impact on our lives occurred on Valentine's Day when the beautiful John Tyler High School was destroyed by fire. In only a matter of hours the true impact was felt. After surveying the damage, the TISD board recommended sharing Lee's campus with our former cross-town rivals.

There were many unspoken fears that this situation might not work, but we were pleased to hear Mr. Hall say that the entire student body had promised its cooperation.

Although the new schedule meant that we would have shorter class periods and our afternoons free, it also meant more homework and an extra effort in getting to school on time.

The fire not only affected the two schools but the entire city. For instance, the split schedule meant that employers had to reschedule their student employees.

Robert E. Lee took on a dual look hoping to make the John Tyler students feel at home. All over the campus one could see not only red and white, but also the addition of J. T. Blue. Welcome signs in rooms and hallways and red and blue ribbons on campus trees were waiting to greet the new students on the first day.

One of the first joint activities was a concert by the two bands. The proceeds were given to John Tyler to help them replace the Lion mascot that was destroyed in the fire.

Mr. Hall summed up the loss by saying that "together we have made the best of a bad situation."

The "Year of Change" was especially significant to the seniors, for it was the beginning of a life on their own, leaving the security of home and school to face the world of college and career.

HOMETOWN

Tyler–Our Hometown

The city, named for John Tyler, tenth President of the United States, was incorporated on April 1 after many years as a pioneer trading post. Today Tyler is one of the 26 Standard Metropolitan St Areas in Texas.

Smith County, organized in July, 1846, was one of the numerous counties created by the first State Leg It was named for General James Smith of the adjoining county of Rusk.

During the Civil War, a prison camp was established four miles north of Tyler. Camp Ford (named fo John S. "Rip" Ford) held as many as 6,000 Federal prisoners and required 1,500 guards in the latt of the war. It is said that these prisoners introduced baseball to Texas.

In 1890, there were four sawmills and an ice factory, a fire brick and tile kiln, a chair factory, factory, a car and truck factory and six canning establishments. One private bank and two nation with a capital and surplus of $450,000 served the county in 1890.

When the great East Texas oil field was discovered in 1930, Tyler catapulted into prominenc headquarters of the major oil companies and soon became the largest urban center of the area. The oil particularly the production of oil, declined rapidly from the mid-fifties until the energy crisis of 19 then it has become of greater importance to the area. The economy rests upon three main sources o oil, agriculture, particularly the production of rose bushes and beef cattle, and manufacturing. Tyler 134 manufacturing plants with an annual payroll in excess of $100 million. But despite its increased activity and sophistication, Tyler has held on to its friendly "home town" appeal . . . its way of w newcomers and making them feel like dyed-in-the wool Tylerites in no time at all.

CAMP FORD

ON THIS SITE DURING THE CIVIL WAR WAS LOCATED CAMP FORD, THE LARGEST PRISONER OF WAR COMPOUND FOR UNION TROOPS WEST OF THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER. NAMED IN HONOR OF COL. JOHN S. "RIP" FORD WHO ORIGINALLY ESTABLISHED A TRAINING CAMP HERE IN 1862, IT WAS CONVERTED IN THE SUMMER OF 1863 TO A PRISON CAMP.

IT FIRST CONSISTED OF FOUR TO FIVE ACRES ENCLOSED BY A STOCKADE SIXTEEN FEET HIGH. IN THE SPRING OF 1864 FOLLOWING THE CONFEDERATE VICTORIES AT MANSFIELD, LOUISIANA AND MARK'S MILLS, ARKANSAS THE ENCLOSURE WAS DOUBLED TO ACCOMMODATE THE LARGE INFLUX OF PRISONERS. APPROXIMATELY 4700 FEDERALS WERE CONFINED HERE DURING THIS PERIOD. THIS OVERCROWDED CONDITION WAS SOMEWHAT RELIEVED THROUGH A SERIES OF PRISONER OF WAR EXCHANGES BETWEEN THE NORTH AND THE SOUTH.

UNION SOLDIERS REPRESENTING NEARLY ONE HUNDRED DIFFERENT REGIMENTS PLUS SAILORS FROM GUNBOATS AND TRANSPORTS WERE CONFINED HERE. IN ADDITION THERE WERE IMPRISONED UNION SYMPATHIZERS, SPIES AND EVEN CONFEDERATE DESERTERS.

THE PRISONERS CONSTRUCTED THEIR OWN SHELTERS RANGING FROM LOG HUTS AND BURROWS CALLED "SHEBANGS" TO BRUSH ARBORS AND TENTS MADE OF BLANKETS.

A SPRING, LOCATED ABOUT 100 YARDS SOUTHWEST OF THIS MARKER, FURNISHED AN AMPLE SUPPLY OF GOOD WATER. THEIR MEAGER RATIONS, ESSENTIALLY THE SAME AS THAT OF THEIR GUARDS, USUALLY CONSISTED OF BEEF AND CORN MEAL AND WERE SOMETIMES SUPPLEMENTED BY VEGETABLES PURCHASED FROM NEARBY FARMS.

ALTHOUGH ESCAPE ATTEMPTS WERE FREQUENT, VERY FEW WERE SUCCESSFUL DUE TO THE LONG DISTANCE TO UNION LINES AND THE DIFFICULTY IN ELUDING THE TRACKING HOUNDS USED BY THE CONFEDERATE GUARDS.

EVEN THOUGH CONDITIONS WERE PRIMITIVE IT COMPARED FAVORABLY WITH THE OTHER CIVIL WAR PRISON CAMPS. CAMP FORD CONTINUED TO SERVE AS A PRISON UNTIL THE SURRENDER OF THE TRANS-MISSISSIPPI DEPARTMENT IN MAY, 1865. IT WAS LATER DESTROYED BY FEDERAL OCCUPATION TROOPS.

Representing Robert E. Lee as 1980-81 Varsity Cheerleaders are Head Cheerleader Kim Rook, Seniors Mary Ann Branch, Paula Goodin, Paige Hadjison, Elisabeth Henkhaus, Juniors Terri Grewell, Lisa Hardiman, and Kim Murphy. The Cheerleaders performed for the first time as a group at the 1980 Red-White Football Scrimmage. In June, they attended the Thunderhawk Cheerleading Camp on the University of Oklahoma campus in Norman, Oklahoma. While at camp, the Cheerleaders received a Superior rating, three Excellent ratings, and were awarded the Spirit Stick for most spirited and Superstar Squad. In August, they met with the Southern Belles and taught the cheers and chants learned at camp.

Football season kept all the Cheerleaders busy as they performed at ten Pep Rallies, cheered at all football games, and conducted a super-spirited John Tyler week. At the same time, they supported the Volleyball team and traveled to Commerce to watch the Lady Raiders play for the bi-district championship.

Basketball season began with the Cheerleaders attending all home games and several out-of-town district games. The highlight of this season was the T.J.C. Basketball Tournament, where the Lee Cheerleaders were presented the highly-coveted Outstanding Cheerleaders Award.

For the baseball team, the Cheerleaders act as "Bat Girls".

The 1980-81 Cheerleaders remain committed to the traditional motto that "The sun that sets may never rise, but Raider spirit never dies."

Band

The Robert E. Lee Marching Band took on a new look for the 1980-81 year, by changing their style of marching from military to military-show. Instead of marching up and down the field, goal post to goal post, the band marches across the field and makes beautiful formations. The new style, which includes pinwheels, windmills, pentagons, and square x's, began in June.

Director Richard Highfill is senior director, director of the Wind Ensemble, and chairman of region competition. Director Melvin Davis is the director of the Concert Band, Freshman Band, and the Lee Stage Band. Ms. Dena Gillis is the majorette and flag sponsor. Cindy Cagel and Cheryl Hale are student music teachers.

ACADEMICS

Language Arts

The Language Arts Department is the largest department on the Robert E. Lee campus, including ninety-three classes plus Reading. With the exception of special courses such as Humanities, Creative Writing, and Reading, the classes are divided into three levels: basic, regular, honors. These levels, while establishing specific guidelines for their students, have two common goals: to expose students to relevant literature and to increase each student's ability to speak and write correctly.

The units of study within the department are varied and challenging, and for over half the students, they are college preparatory. Literature, grammar, research, composition, study techniques, and mythology are studied at some time during the four year program. In addition, each teacher supplements the basic language arts requirements with his or her own individual talents and creative ideas.

Alfred Lord Tennyson once commented, "I am a part of all that I have met." Hopefully, the students who participate in the language arts program at Robert E. Lee can look back upon their experience with the knowledge that what they learned is a part of them.

SPEECH

Speech I, or the Fundamentals of Speech, is a course offered to provide the students with knowledge on how to better communicate with the public. Opportunities are provided to gain experience in a variety of speaking situations. In fact, experience in speaking is the key to ease of speaking. Mr. Alan Shumate is the sponsor.

Journalism

Journalism I students explore various aspects of media including advertising, reporting, special writing such as features, sports and editorial, page layout, headline writing, television production, photography, and history and ethic code of journalism.

Students' work may be published in the student newspaper. Student projects include producing a television newscast, creating original advertising, and shooting, developing and printing photographs.

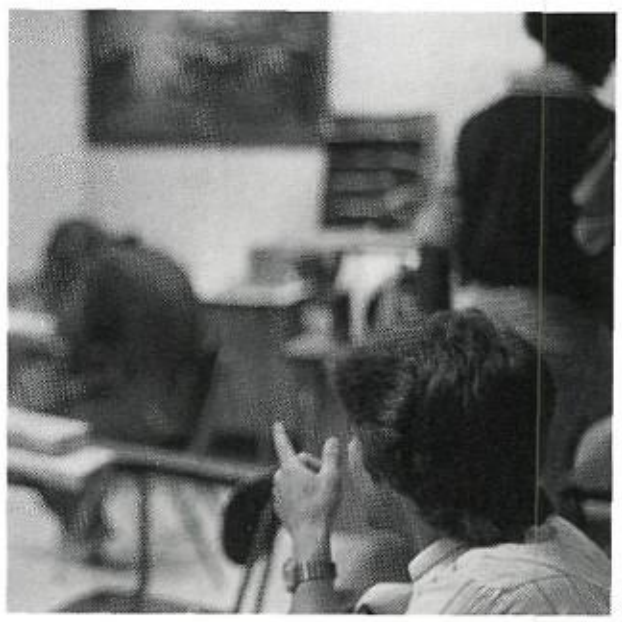
Special Education

The Special Education program at Robert E. Lee serves approximately 140 students. These students are involved in main stream campus classes, special activities, and in special classes. Craft items made by students in the self-contained classroom are offered for sale to students, the faculty, and the community. Most Resource students are involved in work programs on the eleventh and twelfth grade level. These students receive high school graduation credits for successful work experiences, which are supervised by the on campus Vocational Adjustment Coordinator. The services of a Diagnostic Consultant are available on campus. All new referrals to Special Education are handled through this office.

The SAC program is also a part of the Special Education Department.



Mathematics

The Mathematics Department offers courses for all students at Robert E. Lee. There are sixteen different mathematics courses offered, ranging from fundamentals of mathematics up to and including calculus. College bound students can study mathematics all four years in high school plus a semester of computer mathematics.

The Number Sense Team and Calculator Team competed in District UIL, and a team of three students represented Lee at a computer programming contest held at North Texas State University.

One hundred twenty-one students took the Annual High School Mathematics Test with Edward Newman making the highest score.

There are eighteen teachers in the Mathematics Department, and Diane Sorrels is new to the faculty this year.

Social Studies

The influence of each era upon succeeding times and forces of historical cause and effect reveal the continuity of history. Without a knowledge of the past, the present is not easily understood. In the Social Studies curriculum attention is given to political development of the past, and governing processes of today. Students are provided opportunities to study world cultures, a free market economy and current word relationships. Emphasis is placed on the study of the values of citizenships and the ideals of a democratic nation. The Social Studies curriculum also includes a study of the growth of ideas, religions, and art as civilizing forces in the history of man.

Science

For the student interested in the field of Science, a wide range of courses offered at Robert E. Lee. The Science Department includes physics, chemistry, biology, geology, marine and physical science. Each of these courses are offered on both the regular and on the honors levels. In addition to these classes, there is a science class offered to the gifted and talented.

Approximately 1200 students take science courses. Among the many activities offered in the science department are the chemistry, biology, geology, and marine science clubs. Students in these clubs are eligible to go on the various field trips offered by each club. Each spring approximately sixty chemistry students attend a science symposium at Bryan Adams High School to hear lectures by experts in various fields of science. This year's honor students were offered the chance to attend the Sixth Annual Society of Women Engineers Conference for High School Students.

Health and Driver's Education

Health Education prepares each student to live a happy and useful life as an individual and to assume his/her place as a worthy citizen in his or her own community. It helps each student to develop understandings, attitudes, and habits that are conducive to healthful living. Each student also has the opportunity to learn and practice first aid techniques which will enable him/her to cope with emergencies in both home and in the community.

The purpose of Driver's Education is to develop competent, defensive drivers. The course is divided into four parts: classroom, multi-media, simulator, and in-car instruction. In the classroom phase, the student is presented with factual information from the Drive Right text and the Texas Drivers Handbook. These facts are reinforced in the multi-media phase through the use of sound films and filmstrips. The purpose of simulation is to aid the student in recognizing potential and real hazards. Perception is the key word used. Behind-the-wheel gives the student on the road experience in real situations. Upon the successful completion of the course, certificates are awarded.

Drawing for a Future

The Art Department at Robert E. Lee is designed to serve both the serious art student, who wants to make art a major part of his future, and the student who merely wants a brief exposure to a variety of art forms. Art I and Crafts require no prerequisite; they acquaint beginning students with the basic principles of design, drawing-painting-printmaking techniques, and craft procedures.

Art II, III, and IV build upon the foundation acquired in Art I. Students who progress through all four levels gradually add to their experience sculpture, lettering, painting with various media, pen and ink, and art history. In Art IV, students are encouraged to pursue work in areas of special interest and to prepare a portfolio for regional scholarship competition.

All students who participate in the art program should benefit from the experience. Those who intend to pursue art careers should develop their talent and creativity to a higher degree. Others should gain an appreciation for the importance of art in society, and they, too, should find their creative scope broadened.

Business

Practical training, salable skills, survival techniques—all of these are offered to students who participate in the business department. From the clerk-typist or secretary in an office to a life insurance salesman; from the business owner to the corporate manager; from the housewife who needs a budget to the college student who needs to type a report, people need business skills, and Robert E. Lee students have the opportunity to learn these skills in the Business Department.

Courses offered in the department range from typing, shorthand, and office practice to business law, accounting, and business management. In addition, all courses teach desirable business attitudes as well as ethical conduct and proper business dress and grooming. The business department tries to create the same standards in school that the business community expects from its employees. In so doing, students participate in learning activities that enable them to become qualified, productive members of society.

Home Economics Cooperative Education is a program designed for students to become gainfully employed to help prepare for the world of work and for advanced education. Students are employed in occupations related to home economics that include such areas as these: Clothing Assistant, Fabric Coordinator, Tester of Textiles, Dietician Aide, Food Service Employee, Food Caterer, Physical Fitness Assistant, Tester of Food, Consumer Aide, Floral Designer, Home Furnishings Aide, Child Care Aide, and Companion to the Elderly. Group instruction includes orientation and adjustment to employment conditions, decision making, self-concept, career objectives, and general topics related to the world of work.

Homemaking

Homemaking, one of the many interesting courses offered at Robert E. Lee, helps students develop a sense of responsibility and understanding of self and basic individual needs including the understanding of personality and human development of the child and teenager. It also deals with appreciation of the family as a major societal group.

Some of the activities sponsored by homemaking is the decorating of the mobile home on campus, holding coffee and tea receptions, and providing luncheons for the faculty and other groups.

ORGANIZATIONS

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Robert E. Lee Student Council, dedicated to the improvement of student life on our campus, is made up of representatives and senators from each class. Committees on such things as campus improvement, dances and soc hops, homecoming, public relations, student relations, assemblies, and various fund raising projects keep these students busy. They have an opportunity to be outstanding leaders at Lee.

The 1980-81 year affected the cannoneers in a stror way. After drilling with the cannon throughout th summer months, the University Interscholastic Leagu ruled that no firearms could be taken to UIL meet This decision eliminated a proud part of R.E.L. spiri However, Lee was allowed to fire the cannon at the Ros Parade and after pep rallies. The cannoneers were allowe to charge the cannon up the field at the Robert I Lee—John Tyler football game, but were not allowe to fire it. For the first time in 14 years, Robert E. Le had a homecoming and the cannoneers served as usher to the Queen's court.

They will also be introduced to machine language programming and disk operating systems. Future Homemakers of America, a student vocational organization, focuses on the family. The organization develops skills essential to family life. FHA members use their home economics skills to gain experience for a future as wage earners and as homemakers.

The organization develops skills leading to careers in hotel and restaurant management, interior design, and fashion retail, teaching, and counseling. As homemakers it develops skills in family relations and communication, child care and development, money management, and financial planning.

The Robert E. Lee chapter of FHA participated in a back to school fashion show, a covered dish supper, a Valentines' dance, helped with the March of Dimes Project, The Lily Day Drive, and donated toys to an orphanage.
